Statement

Section 79 of the Western Australian Workers' Compensation and Injury Management Act 1981 gives an arbitrator discretion to refuse to award compensation which would otherwise be payable where it is proved that the worker has, at the time of seeking or entering employment in respect of which he claims compensation for an injury, wilfully and falsely represented himself as not having previously suffered from the injury.

I have read the above statements. The answers are correct, and no information concerning my present or past health has been withheld
